Surgical training is going through the greatest change in several generations. The ALSGBI believe that listening to future generations of surgeons is the essential catalyst for an open minded, innovative and progressive Association. The Council is here to protect these values and establish the strategy for achieving these goals. We, therefore, want to set up a Junior ALSGBI forum to discuss, debate and challenge what the Association does and to help shape our future.

Establishing useful online tools, peer to peer learning and support throughout a surgical career are key areas of interest. However, we want to understand your views and to this end the ALSGBI will host an open and informal session at the ASM where you can connect with peers, put forward your views and help stimulate the next 25 years of ALSGBI training and education.

A forum open to Trainee Surgeons ONLY | Pre-booking essential | FREE
